

The current tool used by the White Pigeon Community Schools for the evaluation of certified staff members was created by a committee comprised of administration and certified staff. The documents were modeled in part after the work of Charlotte Danielson and the Rockford Public Schools.